APPEAL

ON BEHALF OF FAMINE-STRICKEN IRELAND.

WE THE UNDERSIGNED, MEMBERS OF THE Relief Committee, appeal to the ever-charitable citizens of Vancouver Island of all creeds and nationalities, but especially to the sons and daughters of poor, suffering Ireland.

It is quite unnecessary to draw the sad picture of the sufferings that are in store during this season for a great portion of that unfortunate and helpless Island. A cry of sympathy has risen in every land and all agree that private charity alone can partially alleviate Ireland's imminent calamities.

His Lordship Bishop Brondel, at Christmas noon service, made the initial start towards relief. A collection-box will be placed in the Church during the services until the 31st of January, the amount of which will be at once forwarded to the Archbishop of Dublin, who, as it is well known, distributes such gifts impartially to all who are in need.

In order, however, to extend to all the opportunity of saving from starvation their own unfortunate countrymen or fellowmen, we, members of the Relief Committee, will collect or receive subscriptions during the month of January and remit the amount through the same channel.

SHALL THE DRYDOCK BE BUILT BY DAY'S WORK?

The hint conveyed through the Government organ a few days since of the intention of the Government to build the drydock by day's work has had an effect on the popular mind contrary to that which its writer intended. It has aroused people to a sense of the danger that exists of there being, after the sum of $249,000 has been spent on cofferdam construction, cement, machinery, etc., no dock at all. They see that a contract once given out for the dock will commit the Province irrevocably to the work of construction; whilst the proposition to build the dock by day's work would commit the Province to nothing beyond the money voted for expenditure during each fiscal year—precisely as the work of dredging Victoria harbor is carried on. The adoption of the contract system would be a sufficient guarantee of the completion of the drydock within a reasonable time. The adoption of the day's work system would necessitate a review of the Government policy each session, and might some day block the enterprise entirely were a Government hostile to dock construction to attain to power. There are two reasons why we are opposed to the day's work system: The first is because it would prove the slowest and most costly; the second, because under it there would be no finality. The scheme would continually crop up like BANQUO's ghost at the feast to disturb the equanimity of the House and upset the calculations of the Ministry. The article in the organ to which we allude (and which has created so much adverse criticism) is attributed to the master-mind of the Finance Minister. It is certainly an idea that sheds fresh lustre on the mighty intellect of that great fiscal phenomenon, and is in every respect worthy of him, who, from 1874 to 1876, "sowed money broadcast" along the banks of the Fraser and retired from office leaving a debt of $650,000 for his successors to provide for. In his article the Finance Minister informs the country that the engineer's estimate of the cost of the dock is $300,000; but he does not explain that that estimate was submitted on a plan which provided for a wooden bottom, which the Admiralty declined to accept and stipulated for a stone bottom, and that thereupon a fresh estimate was made at a much higher figure. Upon the plans thus prepared under the direction of the Admiralty the bids recently sent in to this Government were based. When the House meets it will be seen that several of those tenders do not exceed the engineer's estimate for a dock with a stone bottom, and that the statement in the organ is untrue. Pursuing the question of cost a little further we find at hand proof of the incorrectness of the engineer's estimate on at least one piece of work connected with dock construction. On the 19th of July, 1878, the engineer was requested to provide the Chief Commissioner with an estimate of the cost of erecting the auxiliary pump. Three days subsequently the engineer replied that the cost would be $1200 to $1500 During last session a statement of expenditure and liabilities for graving dock purposes from 19th July, 1872, to 31st December, 1878, was submitted to the House. (This paper does not appear in the Sessional Papers just issued.) From that document we learn that the actual cost of erecting the auxiliary pump by day's work was $3,508.17, an increase of more than 250 per cent. upon the estimated cost! We now ask the public whether we are not justified in demanding that the Government shall discard as untrustworthy any figures that may be produced as an estimate of the cost of the drydock by day's work? In a previous article we showed that the plans on which REED BROS. & Co. prepared their bid for the cofferdam were so incorrect that they had to be discarded; and in the face of the figures quoted would the House be justified in endorsing any action the Government may take towards giving out the main work by the day? We think not, especially when it is remembered that the day's work system has been denounced by a resolution of the House.

Every taxpayer in the Province is deeply interested in the rapid progress of the Esquimalt graving-dock. Completed at not too great a cost it would prove not only self-supporting, but would yield a fair return for the money invested. It is in the interest of the country that we now ask the Government to hasten to award the contract to the lowest responsible local bidders, and to proceed to the work of construction on a basis that will be satisfactory to the people. Tenders that arrived after the local bids were received, opened and known cannot be entertained, be they ever so low; besides, cheapness in the award of public contracts of grave import is not always a guarantee that the work will be done the best. If, however, the Government should persist in the line of policy that the Minister of Finance has marked out; if they should disregard the solemn injunction of the House; if, forgetting the experience with the auxiliary pump, they should commence the dock-work by the day; we feel sure that the Nemesis of public opinion already on their track and pressing them hard, will overtake and destroy them.

NAVIGATION.

As we understand that a series of misrepresentations respecting the navigation of the waters that roll between this port and Frasermouth have gone forward to Ottawa, it would be well if the Board of Trade were to correct them. A little exaggeration by enthusiastic minds in favor of or against certain localities may be somewhat excusable; but when the exaggeration takes the form of ingenious misrepresentation and malicious falsehoods the correction should be swift and effectual.

The Drydock.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE COLONIST:—Sir,—The Standard recently implied a doubt of the correctness of your figures relating to the Drydock and not wholly without reason, since the tender for the cofferdam of $22,000 was rejected as being too low, and the next highest ($59,000 and not $49,000 as stated by you,) accepted. It may be true that the sum of $325,000, the lowest bid, is $25,000 in excess of the Government Engineer's estimate; but allowing that gentleman full credit, in addition to his many worthy qualities, for fair professional ability, he is by no means infallible; and it is questionable whether after his provincial experience the figures of an estimate made by him to-day would not more nearly approximate those of the tenders of 27th December last than his own of some two years ago for engine bed and building. Besides some of the bidders are men possessing a knowledge of similar undertaking not inferior to his own. It seems to me the sum of $249,000 for plant, machinery, plans, specification, &c., is out of proportion, and amply sufficient for a work involving the expenditure of $1,000,000

Possibly the Standard is in a position to obtain more accurate information in the matter than yourself, but this does not, consistently with his professions of sincerity for the public weal justify that gentleman in advocating the relinquishment or delay in the construction of the work under discussion. In the existing state of general depression no one will affirm that the immediate commencement of the Drydock could be other than the greatest boon to us in the present, and its completion a source of constant and increasing benefit in the future.

The correspondents in Berlin very generally remark on the growth of Socialism, notwithstanding the apparent quiet, and speak of more vigorous laws for its repression as in contemplation.

Professor Nordenskjold is to call at Naples, in the Vega, on his way home from Behring Strait. This will be the first European port touched at by the Vega since she left Norway, eighteen months ago.

A man recently escaped from an English police lock-up by going up the chimney from the room in which he was confined, and down the chimney into the room of the chief constable. Then he unlocked the door and walked out.

It is stated that a grave-digger has just been arrested in Prussia on a charge of roasting the bodies confided to his tender care for the purpose of obtaining the fat, which he sold to some dealers in the suburbs of the town in which he lived.

The ex-Khedive is again in trouble. He wished to borrow from the Bank of Naples 700,000 francs on the security of objects of value, but the bank, in conformity with its regulations would only lend 500,000 francs, which sum the Khedive refused to accept.

A prominent civil engineer in London, E. W. Ives, has submitted to his professional brethren, at their request, a report on the Tay bridge disaster. Mr. Ives expresses the opinion that tho whole bridge was of far too light and flimsy a character, especially the piers, which also he considers to have been badly designed to resist the under pressure to which they were subject. He believes that everything was sacrificed to cheapness and facility of construction, and that, in fact, the outlay was pared down to the lowest possible point.

The following incident of the severe weather in Paris is related: "On Sunday evening more than a 100 workmen appeared in a body at the Police Office of the Palace of Justice, most of them leading by the hand wife and children, and stated that, having neither work, food nor shelter, they wished to be detained as vagabonds. The request was refused. They then proceeded to a Commissioner of Police, who acknowledged the justice of their plea, and granted their request.

The Water Works.

The Water Works Engineer has recently prepared a somewhat comprehensive and interesting report on the condition of the water works and the question of future supply, and each Councillor has been furnished with a copy of the document. We understand that after discussing at considerable length the question of pressure and supply and quoting from figures compiled by Mr. Bulkley, C. E., the Engineer suggests, inter alia, that in order to obtain a more copious supply, the mains be branched at some suitable point on Douglas street, and that from that point a new main be laid in a north easterly direction to the elevated portion of the city at the head of Fort street, in which locality a reservoir should be constructed. The new main could be tapped where it crosses Fort street and at its intersections with streets running north and south. We learn also that the Engineer states there is no reason why a very fair quality of water should not be obtained from the present source with proper filterage; but he does not expect to be able to get pure water from the present filter beds. Alluding to the construction of a reservoir he points out that one should be built capable of holding at least three days' supply, as without such a provision the city cannot be considered safe from fire in the event of a break in the mains. But apart from this highly important consideration a reservoir would obviate the inconvenience frequently resulting from the water being suddenly turned off. The report states that numerous applications have been made for extensions of mains, but it has been impossible to grant many of them, because the present water supply was inadequate last summer. During the last four months, however, there have been laid twenty-five service pipes and 700 feet of two inch main and should the same rate of consumption continue there will not be sufficient water to supply the mains next summer. The report will come up for consideration at the regular meeting of the Council to be held this evening, when it is probable several valuable suggestions for the improvement of the water supply will be offered.

TUESDAY, Feb. 10.

A. Rogers vs. Devereaux—This is an action to recover $80, a month's wages and board on the steamer Sir James Douglas, in lieu of a month's notice. The plaintiff deposed that he was originally engaged by Capt. Cooper when in command of the steamer and an agreement existed between them that a month's notice should be given on either side. Capt. Cooper was succeeded by Capt. Devereaux and the plaintiff continued in his position as mate. On Jan. 2d, 1880, however, he was discharged without notice.

His Honor reserved judgment for one week. Mr. Drake for the plaintiff; Mr. A. R. Robertson, Q.C., for the defendant.

MARINE.—The American barkentine Amelia (397 tons), Capt. Foye, arrived from San Francisco yesterday morning and proceeded forthwith to Burrard Inlet in tow of the steamer Beaver. She is chartered to load lumber at Hastings mill for Sydney at £3 10s.... The Beaver will cross over to Departure Bay and return this evening with the barkentine Malay, laden with Wellington coal for San Francisco.

THE CHINESE NEW YEAR.—The festivities came to an end last evening with the burning of much powder and the snapping of many firecrackers. The noise at times was deafening and the louder it grew the more the admiration of the Johns was excited by the "grand" display. Thank goodness! the Celestial new year festivities occur but once a twelvemonth.

AN ACT OF MALICE.—Yesterday morning Rev. Mr. Mogg reported to the police that during Monday night the Collegiate schoolhouse was broken into by some maliciously disposed person or persons, who upset the benches and desks, smashed a number of bottles containing chemicals and left things in a state of general disorder. So far as known nothing was stolen.

TREASURE SHIPMENTS.—The following amounts of treasure were shipped yesterday per steamship Dakota through Wells, Fargo & Co.'s agency in this city: Bank of B.N.A., $19,897; Garesché, Green & Co., $4,920; Bank of B.C., $2,981. Total, $27,798.

A RUMOR is extant that the Premier will not return to this Province; that he has struck a good prospect at Ottawa and will remain there. We give the report for what it is worth; and we don't think it is worth much.

FOR THE NORTH.—The steamship California, bound for Fort Wrangel and Sitka, sails from Portland at an early hour this morning and should arrive here on Friday evening.

THE steamship Dakota, Capt. Griffiths, sailed from Esquimalt at noon yesterday for San Francisco, having on board the direct mails, some thirty passengers and $27,700 in treasure.

THE steamship City of Chester sailed from San Francisco for this port yesterday at noon, but her passenger list failed to come to hand.

VICTORIA FIRE DEPARTMENT.—At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Delegates, V.F.D., held last night it was resolved to ask the City Council to donate to the Department a site on which to erect a house for the Tiger Engine Co. A committee was also appointed to wait on the Government and City members with the view of obtaining the promise of a grant to assist in the erection of the structure. It was also resolved that notices be painted on the houses of the Department warning the public that persons committing nuisances or trespassing in the said houses or stealing or removing the property of the Department therefrom will be prosecuted according to law.

Incidents of the Tay Bridge Disaster.

Many curious stories are told of the incidents which caused certain passengers to go, or prevented them from going, by the ill-fated train. One lady and her maid, who perished, had ordered their cab for the morning train which reached Dundee in safety; but the cabman overslept himself, and they traveled by the train which plunged into the Tay instead. In another case, a gentleman, intending to travel by the train, had been in vain dissuaded by his wife, who, in her alarm at the tempest, took the strong measure of so delaying his cab that he missed the train, and returned in no good humor with the author of this ruse. Another lady and gentleman were reluctantly dissuaded from traveling on so tempestuous a day. The saddest story, however, is that of a young man, who had spent the Saturday and Sunday in Edinburgh with the girl to whom he was engaged, and who hesitated to return on so stormy a day; but was persuaded by her not to risk his work by breaking faith with his employers and perished in consequence. No railway accident has, we believe, ever before occurred of which every witness was swallowed up absolutely and immediately, as in this case. Even in the worst accident of this kind that we can remember, there have been some survivors.—London Spectator, Jan. 3rd.

HOME LIFE A HUNDRED YEARS AGO.—One hundred years ago not a pound of coal or a cubic foot of illuminating gas had been burned in the country. No iron stoves were used and no contrivances for economizing heat were employed until Dr. Franklin invented the iron-frame fireplace which still bears his name. All cooking and warming in towns as well as in the country, were done by the aid of a fire kindled on the brick hearth or in the brick ovens. Pine knots and tallow candles furnished the lights for the long winter nights, and sanded floors supplied the place of rugs and carpets. The writer used for household purposes was drawn from deep wells by the creaking sweep. No form of pump was used in this country, so far as we can learn, until after the commencement of the present century. There were no friction matches in those early days, by aid of which a fire could be easily kindled, and if the fire went out upon the hearth over night, and the tinder was damp, so that the spark would not catch, the alternative remained of wading through the snow a mile or so to borrow a brand of a neighbor. Only one room of any house was warm, unless some member of the family was ill; in all the rest the temperature was at zero many nights in winter. The men and women of a hundred years ago undressed and went to their beds in a temperature colder than that of our barns and woodsheds, and they never complained.—Am. Paper.

DUBLIN, Feb. 9.—Relief measures have already had a beneficial effect and a more hopeful spirit is growing among the people. Parnell's attack on the relief committees is condemned even by some of his most ardent admirers. The Irishman newspaper strongly deprecates his language about the Mansion House fund. The members of the government and heads of the Irish deputations met to-day at the official residence of the Chancellor of the Exchequer to devise means for meeting the distress in Ireland.

When this was done the Herates were defeated with great slaughter.

DUBLIN, Feb. 9.—The Theatre Royal was completely destroyed by fire this afternoon and is still burning. Adjoining houses are endangered. The police inspector and one workman were injured. The military keep order and assist the fire department. There was to have been a day performance this afternoon at which the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough were to be present. The fire was occasioned by the ignition of the curtains of the state box.

LATER.—The Theatre Royal is still burning. The manager of the Theatre, the property man and four assistants perished in the flames. The Lord Lieutenant was present during the burning. The loss is estimated to be £200,000.

PARIS, Feb. 9.—There is a serious possibility of Admiral Jauerguiberry resigning from the Ministry of Marine in consequence of the budget committee's decision to postpone a vote of 800,000 francs for colonial defences until the proper data be forthcoming. It is said that Le Pere, Minister of the Interior, will also resign.

The Conscientious Burglar.

Reginald was a pleasant old gentleman, with a fine sense of humor. He had considerable property, and lived on Wimbledon Common.

He had one beautiful daughter—but that is not to the point.

One afternoon, as Old Reginald was reading books in his drawing-room, it was announced to him that a Common Man desired to speak with him.

He gave orders that the Common Man should be admitted. And admitted the Common Man was.

He was a very Common Man, indeed, a tall, shambling, ill-looking fellow, with an irresolute manner and shrinking eye. He was dressed as costermongers are dressed when following their calling.

"What is your pleasure, good sir?" said Old Reginald.

"Beg pardon, guv'nor," said the Common Man. "I hope you won't be hard on me."

"Not at all," replied Old Reginald.

"I'm—I'm a burglar," said the Common Man.

"Indeed!" said Reginald. "Take a chair."

"Thank you kindly, guv'nor," said he, "but I'd rather stand."

And he did stand.

So far there is nothing very incredible in my story. But it gets more remarkable as it goes on.

"How do you like your profession?" said Old Reginald.

"Well, guv'nor," said the Common Man, "I don't like it noways, and that's it."

"That's what?"

"That's why I'm here. I belongs to a gang of twelve wot's working these parts just now. We cracks cribs by turns. It's—it's my turn to-night."

And the burglar wept like a child.

"This, I presume, is Remorse,". said old Reginald.

"No, guv'nor, it ain't Remorse," said the burglar. "It's Funk."

"The same thing," said Reginald.

"It ain't the being a burglar that I object to. It's the having to commit burglaries. I like the credit of it, sir; it's the danger I object to.

"I see."

"Now, by the laws of our gang, we're bound to crack cribs in turn. That is to say, one of us cracks the cribs, while the other eleven stops outside and gives the office."

"I thought burglars always worked in twos or threes?" said Old Reginald.

"P'raps I ought to know best," suggested the burglar.

"Perhaps you are right. Indeed, I am sure you ought. What crib do you propose to crack to-night?"

"This here one."

"Mine?"

"Yourn."

"Oh!"

And old Reginald prepared to ring the bell.

"Please don't do that, Guv'nor. You ain't never agoin' to give me into custody?"

"I think I had better."

"No, no, Guv'nor, don't do that. Listen to me first. I ain't agoin' to hurt you. It's my turn to crack your crib to night. "Now, will you help me?"

"I hardly see my way," said old Reginald, thoughtfully. "Still, if I can be of any use—"

"Look here, guv'nor, each member of our gang is bound to get fifty pounds worth of swag from each crib he cracks. If he don't he's shot. Now, I see a handsome silver salver and coffee-pot and cream jug as I come in here. Wot might be the value of that handsome silver salver and coffee-pot?"

"The cream jug is electro. The coffee-pot, with sugar basin and salver, may be worth five and forty pounds."

"That's near enough. I'll take em. Here is a flimsey for fifty quid."

And he handed Old Reginald a bank note for that amount.

"Still I don't quite understand—"

"I want you, guv'nor, to be so good as to leave your bedroom window open to-night, and place that silver coffee-pot and them silver traps where I can get 'em. I shall have cracked my crib, bagged my swag, and made myself safe until my turn comes round again."

"Certainly," said Old Reginald, holding up the note to the light. "But let me ask how you can afford to pay so handsomely for your depredation?"

"There was a dozen on us, sir. Each on us cracks a crib once in four months, and each swag's at least fifty pounds worth—often more, but at least that. After each plant the profits are divided. Last quarter the twelve cribs cracked brought us in eleven hundred pounds — that's ninety odd pounds apiece. When my turn comes I pay a fair price for the fifty pounds worth I swag (for I have been honorably brought up), and I gets forty pounds to the good. And forty pounds a quarter is a hundred and sixty pounds a year. And I lives on it. Sometimes it's more—now and then it's less; but whatever it is I lives on it."

And the honest fellow took a receipt for the note and departed.

Old Reginald was as good as his word. He left his bedroom window open and placed the salver where the honest burglar was as good as his word, and at 2 o'clock in the morning he came and found it.

So far all was simple and straightforward enough. But now comes the curious and incredible part of my story.

The fifty pound note was part of the proceeds of a previous burglary. The number of the note was known and traced to Old Reginald, who had to account for its being in his possession.

Now the twelve burglars had in the meantime been arrested by the police (this also is incredible), and were sentenced to penal servitude for life.

So Old Reginald had no hesitation in stating these facts as I have stated them.

No one believed him, and no one will me.

So he appealed to the honest burglar to corroborate his story.

But the honest burglar, having discovered the whole thing, coffee-pot, salver and all, was the commonest electro, was so shocked at Old Reginald's dishonesty, that not only did he decline to corroborate his story, but actually, and I think very properly, identified him as an accomplice.

And Old Reginald was also sentenced to penal servitude, and he and the honest burglar worked for many years together on the same works, and had many opportunities of talking the matter over from its moral, social and political point of view.

A Prosperous Year.

In his address upon retiring from the Presidency of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, Governor Perkins states the value of our exports of wheat and barley for the year just ended at very nearly $20,000,000. In the same year we exported by sea and rail about 2,000,000 gallons of wine, average price not stated. We built 130 vessels, of an aggregate tonnage of 9200 tons. We exported hides and leather to the amount of $134,000, wool about 7,350,000 pounds. Our lumber receipts were 212,000,000 feet. The receipts of tea aggregated nearly 20,000,000 pounds, whereof 15,092,000 came from Japan and 5,884,000 from China. Our sugar exports were 54,400,000, and our coffee—mostly from Central America — over 12,390,000 pounds. We shipped away $26,200,000 of treasure, China taking $9,190,000 and Great Britain nearly $16,000,000. The grain exports for the year exceeded in value those of any preceding year in the history of the State. But by far the most encouraging item in our list of exports of domestic produce is that of wine—2,000,000 gallons—equal to 8000 tons. It explains that the bad repute into which California wines had fallen some years ago, in consequence of ignorance in viniculture and spurious compounds manufactured here out of other substances than grapes, is passing away at the East as the quality of our wines improves. This industry is the one upon which we should bestow most attention; for it is on viniculture that we depend as the future dominating interest of California. With due care in the cultivation of foreign varieties of grapes, the selection of lands for vineyards and the manufacture of wines, keeping them pure and holding them back for age, it is not extravagant to hope that the child is already born who will live to see our wine exports exceed in value those of wheat and wool. —S. F. Chronicle.

Which is It?

I will take the liberty to send a poetical curiosity. Read as written and it gives one view of a certain matter. Read alternate lines, that is, first and third, and second and fourth and thus to the end; this gives another view;—

The man must lead a happy life
Who is directed by his wife:
Who's free from matrimonial chains,
Is sure to suffer for his pains.

Adam (we read) could find no peace,
Until he saw a woman's face:
When Eve was given for a mate,
Adam was in a happy state.

In the female hearts appear
Truth, darling of a heart sincere
Hypocricy, deceit and pride,
Ne'er known in woman to reside.

What tongue is able to unfold
The worth in woman we behold?
The falsehood that in woman dwells
Is almost imperceptible.

Fooled be the foolish man, I say,
Who will not yield to woman sway;
Who changes from his singleness,
Is sure of perfect blesssedness.

At their Salesrooms, Wharf St., on

AT 12 O'CLOCK, NOON,

All the Lots

Comprising the Site of the

CITY OF EMORY,

(Excepting such as shall have been previously disposed of to parties abroad) with the unexampled and invaluable

WATER PRIVILEGES

THERETO PERTAINING.

EMORY is pleasantly situated on the right bank of the Fraser River, at the unobstructed Head of Navigation, the Terminus and Initial Point of Construction of the Canada Pacific Railway in British Columbia.

EMORY is the natural and inevitable entrepôt and outlet for the Mineral, Agricultural, Pastoral and other Resources of the vast interior, and as the Main Station on this side of the Rocky Mountains with the consequent Round-Houses, Machine Shops, Work Shops and Workman's Dwellings, it cannot fail to become one of the most important and prosperous Cities on the PACIFIC SLOPE, while the large influx of Population and the sudden growth of industry incidental to vigorous Railway Construction must insure its becoming the Great Centre of the Commerce and Carrying Trade of British Columbia.

The CITY OF EMORY has been admirably laid out, nearly all the Lots having a Double Frontage, and the Main Streets carrying a uniform width of Sixty-Six Feet throughout.

The circumstance of the Railway Contractors being the principal owners of the Townsite will be a sufficient guarantee for the interests of Emory being well cared for.

There can be no Rival to this the only available Townsite, all the surrounding land being locked up in the Government Railway Reservation.

Four Swift and Commodious Steamers will be placed on the river next season, connecting at New Westminster with the splendid and fast steamers "Princess Louise," "W.G. Hunt" & "Enterprise," thus establishing DAILY STEAMBOAT COMMUNICATION and enabling Passengers, Mails and Freight to reach the Terminus of the Canada Pacific Railway in fourteen hours from Victoria, running time.

Capt. Irving desires us to state that he is now preparing for the immediate construction of WHARF and WAREHOUSE accommodation at the City of Emory to meet the requirements of the immense traffic certain to concentrate there next season.

Mr. Charles Morton is perfecting arrangements and will establish the

EMORY HOUSE

Early next Spring as a first-class Hotel, to meet the requirements of Trade consequent upon the commencement of vigorous Railway Construction.

Several large Commercial Firms are preparing to establish themselves at Emory early in the coming season.

MAPS of the City of Emory have been carefully prepared and are now ready for FREE distribution, and every facility will be given intending purchasers for obtaining the fullest information.

TERMS—One-half of the purchase-money to be paid down in cash; the balance in sixty days by approved endorsed notes, bearing interest at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum

DEEDS, giving Indefeasible Title, will be delivered to the purchasers within ten days after the sale, a conveyance fee of $2 50 being charged.

COUNCIL CHAMBERS, Victoria, 8th January, 1879.
To the Worshipful the Mayor and City Councillors:—
GENTLEMEN,—In presenting statements of receipts and expenditure, cash assets and liabilities, and ledger balance sheet, I have to direct your attention in particular to the expenditure of 1879. This expenditure, embracing 13 months, includes outstanding accounts for December, 1878, and arrears of previous months, amounting in all to $7,622 37. The Corporation books now contain all known liabilities to 31st December, 1879, therefore, the present Statement shows 13 months' general expenditure and some arrears.
The excess of liabilities as shown on 31st December, 1879, in the Statement of cash assets and liabilities being $3,138 25 only, and the excess of payments during the year $7,622 37, it follows that your affairs are in a sound condition, as without such payments there would be a balance in favor of 1879 of $4,484 16.
As the Cash Statement does not show the actual expenditure on many important accounts to the close of the year the following entries, taken from the transfers to close, will supply that deficiency, i. e.,—

Street Repairs	$17,136 36
City Police	9,987 47
Charges	5,152 64
Street Lighting, 14 months	3,846 32
Legal expenses	610 00
Water Works	16,222 13
	$52,954 92

The difference between the actual expenditure as above and the cash expenditure as shown in the Statement is $10,675 83, which will account for the bulk of the liabilities of the Corporation at this date (31st of December, 1879).
I have the honor to be, Gentlemen,
Yours, most obediently,
J. C. BALES, Auditor.
